Re: Officer Steven Teague

Dear Commissioner Iezzi,

I am writing to express my profound appreciation for the sensitive, caring and professional manner in which officer Steven Teague handled a very delicate situation involving my daughter on September 18, 2020 between the approximate times of 6:15am to 7:30am. Officer Teague should be commended for his outstanding service, and the citizens of the town of Hamden should be very proud in knowing that Hamden Police Department has among its members an officer of officer Steven Tague’s caliber.

Although it is not my intention to detail all of the facts surrounding this situation, nevertheless, I think I should share some of the facts so you will have an understanding of the basis of my gratitude for Officer Teague’s outstanding service. In that regards, please note that I placed an emergency call for assistance on the date and around the time noted above. My adult daughter was experiencing a mental breakdown and had become unruly and extremely agitated. Three officers responded to the call. Two of the officers started questioning me to ascertain information about the situation when officer Teague intervened. Officer Teague began asking me questions to understand why I was so upset and what was going on with my daughter. He asked my permission to enter my home and asked if there were any guns or weapons in the house. Once inside, he asked if he could go upstairs to the bathroom where my daughter was standing to talk with her. I agreed, but before he went up the stairs he also asked my daughter if she would mind if he came up to talk with her. She agreed. Upon reaching the bathroom where my daughter was standing, officer Teague started talking to her in a very calm, soothing and caring manner. He demonstrated empathy, made it clear he was there to help her and she would be okay. After a brief discussion, officer Teague deescalated a very tense situation and convinced my daughter to come downstairs. They went into the kitchen where they continued talking. At this time, my daughter then took her prescribed medication. Knowing that she needed medical attention, officer Teague convinced her to walk outside with him, and continued talking with her in a calm and soothing manner as she sat on the front lawn. He then convinced her to enter the waiting ambulance so that she could get to the hospital to receive the medical attention that she needed.

I was so relieved and appreciative of the outstanding manner in which officer Steven Teague handled this very difficult and intense situation. Policing is a very difficult job and effective policing is necessary to sustain our democracy. However, policing is now under a microscope, and rightly so because of the tragic misconduct of a few officers who have dishonored their oath of office. Nevertheless, I firmly believe that the overwhelming majority of police officers understand their obligations, take their responsibilities seriously and attempt to bring honor to the profession and the public trust we have as a society has bestowed upon them. Officer Seven Teague is one of those officers. He was absolutely the right person to deal with my daughter’s situation. He used the right approach and mannerism. I was captivated by his professionalism as I watch him make a difference in an extremely difficult and sensitive situation. You, the commission and Hamden Police Department should be very proud of him.

Sincerely,
